Outstanding. Outdoor. Products.

For the very first time, the jury meeting took place at a great outdoor location in June: in the French Alps. Independent experts from various fields of the outdoor industry came together in a real outdoor setting to put the submitted products through their paces in an authentic atmosphere - focussed especially on product novelties not yet launched to the consumer market. Through the testing the label provides an excellent orientation for the whole outdoor community (consumers, media and retailers).

Outstanding Comfort Performance

Special Achievement 2019

an ISPO Award

Why Comfort Performance?

It became clear across all product categories that product performance no longer has to be at the expense of wearing comfort or the feel of the materials. Modern outdoor equipment (especially clothing) is characterized by extremely high wearing comfort and outstanding performance. This combination opens up areas of application for the outdoor industry's products, even away from extreme adventures.

THE NORTH FACE

TENTE FUTURELIGHT JACKET

FUTURELIGHT™ brings a new level of waterproofing comfort to users with unmatched levels of fabric breathability. Nano-spinning allows to fine-tune levels of breathability, lets air move through while maintaining waterproofness. This technology is setting a new standard in comfort and performance while maintaining sustainable practices in the fabric creation process, using recycled fabrics and a production that cuts chemical consumption.

Outstanding Lightness

Special Achievement 2019

an ISPO Award

Why Lightness?

Weight reduction is one of the core competencies of the outdoor industry, where the outstanding craftsmanship and technological maturity of the industry is most directly tangible.

Being released from the weight of products, we can enjoy the perception of our natural surroundings even better.

PETZL

FLY

Designed for (ski) mountaineers, this harness features a world premiere: the patented construction of the belt uses an innovative loop technique that makes metal and conventional buckles obsolete. Removing the comfort foam, this lightness miracle minimises the weight from 120g to only 90g. Multiple gear loops and ice-screw retainers transport all the equipment required for technical adventures.

Outstanding Sustainability

Special Achievement 2019

an ISPO Award

Why Sustainability?

Our passion for the great outdoors goes hand in hand with a passion to protect it: Where the outdoors is at risk, we cannot turn a blind eye. Sustainability is doing business right: by avoiding future costs to restore nature; by more effective production, prolonging the product use and by considering the afterlife of products.

VAUDE

Redmont 1L Jacket

The choice to use GOTS certified (organic) cotton using natural dyes is a double win: no use of pesticides or herbicides during the growing process and it doesn't hinder the natural biodegrading process of cotton the way synthetic dye does. The durable wind- and waterproof 1L jacket represents a new generation of street, urban, and outdoor wear that care about both style and the planet. Trims and logo applications are made of certified cork.

Outstanding Urban Outdoor

Special Achievement 2019

an ISPO Award

Why Urban Outdoor?

The outdoor mindset is not limited to one being immersed in nature. It is also a place of imagination, a dream of getting connected to the outdoors again, a dream that is alive even in the densest urban urban jungle. Contemporary urban lifestyle products create a strong reference to the longing of being connected with nature— aesthetically suited to the city and its performance demands.

MYSHELTER PARLEY JACKET

The MYSHELTER PARLEY Jacket by adidas shows how outstanding outdoor performance and urban lifestyle goes together. The three-layer, yet very breathable construction and clever details make the jacket suitable for an active urban lifestyle (e.g. when commuting to work) and make no compromises in terms of style. The non-dyed fabric highlights the inner seam tape, which shines through the outer fabric showing a powerful message: 'For the Ocean'.

Base Layer

Palgero

Merino/SeaCell Zip long sleeve

The base layer takes full advantage of the company's own pure natural "Seacell" fiber, made out of algae. The usage of algae in apparel fabrics is new in the industry and results in a wonderful softness that doesn't itch. Mixing in merino wool, Palgero creates a year-round base layer that can be worn during spring/summer (due to the coolness of the seacell) or in autumn/winter (due to the warmth of the merino).

Devold of Norway

COVER ZIP NECK

This mid layer allows to extend the running and outdoor training season to all year round due to its highly performing mix of fabrics: The front and the upper part of the sleeves are tightly woven, stretchy Merino wool blend that blocks out most of the wind. In combination with soft single jersey, 100% merino wool at back panel and lower part of sleeves provides great breathability while keeping a clean look.
